

Sliding Fee Scale

JCS offers a sliding fee scale to individuals that do not have accepted insurance plans and face hardship in paying the standard session fee.

This sliding scale is based on household combined income. It is not required to show proof of income, rather we trust that clients will be honest in choosing their fee for services.

Please let us know if you are struggling financially and would like assistance in covering your fee for services. The scale is as follows (approximate 60 minute session):

up to 40,000 - $75 per session
41 to 60,000 - $85 per session
61 to 75,000 - $100 per session
76 to 100,000 - $120 per session
over 100,000 - $150 per session

Please note that there will also be an additional charge of $25 for the first Intake session (with a cap of $150) due to the increased amount of diagnostic work required for this first appointment.

We have taken many things into consideration in establishing this fee scale. The average fee for counseling services in this area ranges from $120-$150/per hour. We believe that individuals tend to be more committed to something when they have to make some type of personal sacrifice for it – we have found that most pro-bono clients do not take counseling as seriously since they have little investment in it. We also base our rates on similar self-improvement services such as hair services, massage therapy, nails, etc... We believe that counseling should be valued as much or more than these types of services and therefore our fees are comparable.

Please let us know if you have any questions, we are willing to negotiate the rate as needed.

Sincerely,

Holly Smigel, LMHC
Owner/Director Journey Counseling Services
holly@journeycounselingservices.net

Kim Rees, LMHC
Counselor, Journey Counseling Services
kim@journeycounselingservices.net