Missed Appointment Agreement

A scheduled appointment is a commitment of time between you and our practice. We have reserved that time just for you and that time is valuable. When appointments are missed or cancelled, that time is permanently lost.

We ask when you schedule an appointment that you make every effort to keep that commitment. If a situation arises that requires you to reschedule your appointment, notice to your therapist must be made 24 hours in advance of the appointment time. In the event that an appointment is rescheduled or missed without a 24-hour advance notice, a $50 missed appointment fee will be applied.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation with this matter.

By signing this agreement, I commit to paying any charges incurred due to a missed appointment for myself or a child of mine.

Notice of Privacy Policies and Consent for Treatment

This notice involves your privacy rights and describes how information about you may be disclosed, and how you can obtain access to this information. Please review it carefully.

I. Confidentiality

In order to allow for a relationship built on trust, confidentiality is assured at JCS. Client files are kept with the counselor in a traveling file or in a secure location at our office. The information you share will not be disclosed without your written consent. Your Protected Health Information (PHI) is also protected under the provisions of the Federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). Your PHI includes information created or noted by us that can be used to identify you such as your past, present, or future health (including mental health) or condition, the counseling services we have provided to you, or the payment for such services. We are required to provide you with this Notice about our privacy procedures. Please note that we reserve the right to change the terms of this Notice and our privacy policies at any time as permitted by law. Any changes will apply to PHI already on file with us. Should we make any significant changes to our policies, we will immediately change this Notice and make it available to our clients.

II. Limits of Confidentiality

1. As a client of JCS it is important for you to understand that limits to confidentiality do exist. We may use or disclose records or other information about you without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances, either by policy, or because legally required:

2. For treatment: We may use your PHI within our practice to provide you with mental health treatment, including discussing or sharing your PHI with other JCS therapists and interns. Example: discussing your treatment with another JCS therapist in order to facilitate your care.

3. To obtain payment for treatment: we may disclose your PHI to bill and collect payment for the treatment and services we provided you. Example: we might send your PHI to your insurance company in order to get payment for the health care services provided.

4. Emergency Situations: We may disclose your PHI if we are compelled by the fact that you are in such mental or emotional condition as to be dangerous to yourself or the person or property of others, and if we determine that disclosure is necessary to prevent the threatened danger. In addition, if you are involved in a life - threatening emergency and I cannot ask your permission, I will share information if I believe you would have wanted me to do so, or if I believe it will be helpful to you.

5. Child or Adult abuse reporting: If I have reason to suspect that a child is being abused or neglected, or that an elderly or incapacitated adult is abused, neglected or exploited, I am required by law to alert proper authorities.

6. Court Proceedings: If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about your diagnosis and treatment and the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law, and I will not release information unless you provide written authorization or a judge issues a court order. If I am required to be involved in court proceedings, I will charge $300 per hour which will include travel time.

7. Workers Compensation: If you file a worker's compensation claim, I am required by law, upon request, to submit your relevant mental health information to you, your employer, the insurer, or a certified rehabilitation provider.

IV. Multiple or Dual Relationships

Dual relationships occur when the counselor and client have a relationship in multiple settings (counseling, church, community group, Facebook, etc.). Ethical considerations suggest using caution within these relationships in order to protect the client. These ethical considerations benefit the client by allowing the counselor to serve in a professional role and meet them where they are in an unbiased manner. While multiple relationships may occur, the counselors at JCS will always approach the relationship in a professional manner and will seek to protect confidentiality and privacy.

V. Social Media Policies

The following statements outline Journey Counseling Services policies regarding social media.

1. Friending and Following: Unless there is a prior relationship with a client or a community connection which may benefit both the client and counselor, we will seek to avoid friending or following past or present clients in order to maintain proper ethical boundaries and to protect client privacy and confidentiality.

2. Email: We use email for arranging and modifying appointments. We use email for administrative tasks and would discourage the use of email by client or counselor to discuss any confidential content that occurred within the counseling process. We cannot guarantee complete security and confidentially for any emails that we receive from you or any responses that we send.

3. Professional Profiles: JCS utilizes social media sites to advertise our services, relay relevant content to followers, and to pass on articles and other material related to mental health. JCS social media sites are for professional use; therefore, it is not encouraged that clients post any personal information to those sites in order to safeguard their privacy and confidentiality.

4. Collaboration with Counselor: While emailing, or other messaging services, are a great way for the client to communicate with their counselor, you should NOT contact your counselor in cases of emergencies. In the case of an emergency, you should contact your Emergency Contact Person (ECP) or call 911. Please refer to the client emergency plan for further guidelines. If you contact your counselor, you can expect a response withing 24-48 hours upon the time of your inquiry.

VI. Patent's Rights

1. Right to request restrictions: You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of protected health information about you. You also have the right to request a limit on the medical information I disclose about you to someone who is involved in your care or the payment for your care.

2. Right to receive confidential communications by alternative means and at alternative locations: You have the right to request and receive confidential communications of PHI by alternative means and at alternative locations. Example: you might request that we send bills to another address or contact you only at work, or that I do not leave voice mail messages.

3. Right to see and get copies of your PHI: In most cases, you have the right to look at or get copies of your PHI that I have, but you must make the request in writing. In certain situations, I may deny your request. If I do, I will tell you, in writing, my reasons for the denial. Instead of providing the PHI you requested, I may provide you with a summary or explanation of the PHI as long as you agree to that.

4. Right to correct or update you PHI: If you believe that there is a mistake in your PHI or that a piece of important information is missing, you have the right to request that I correct the existing information or add the missing information. You must provide the request and your reason for the request in writing.

Complaints: If you believe your privacy rights have been violated, you may file a complaint. To do this, you must submit your request in writing to my office. You may also send a written complaint to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

This notice went into effect on November 7, 2014.

Journey Counseling Services

Consent for Treatment with Tylor Petty, T-LMHC

Rights and Responsibilities

Journey Counseling Services offers Hope and Compassion to every adult, adolescent, child and couple struggling with emotional and spiritual issues. Counseling is done from a biblical, cognitive behavioral approach. Each client is offered services to best meet his/her individual needs. Treatment goals are established through collaboration between each client and counselor.

In order to allow for a relationship built on trust confidentiality is assured at JCS. Client files are kept either in a locked file in the office or with the counselor in a traveling file. The information you share will not be disclosed without your written consent. You are also protected under the provisions of the Federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). This law ensures the confidentiality of all electronic transmission of information about you. Whenever information is transmitted electronically (for example, sending bills or faxing information), it will be done with special safeguards to ensure confidentiality. If you elect to communicate with your counselor by email, please be aware that email is not completely confidential. Please use discretion when communicating in this manner. As a client of JCS it is important for you to understand that limits to confidentiality do exist including any threats made to harm yourself or others. In addition, if any reports of child or dependent adult abuse are disclosed, mandatory reporting laws require counselors to alert proper authorities.

The counseling relationship is the heart of the process. Interactions must be based on mutual respect and consideration. Appointments will be approximately 55 minutes in length. Please give as much notice as possible if you are unable to make a scheduled appointment. Your counselor will also respect your time by striving to begin and end sessions on time. In addition, payment is expected at the time of service or as arranged. There is a 24 hour cancellation policy; without 24 hour notice you will be expected to pay a $50 fee for the missed appointment. Exceptions may be made due to illness or family emergencies.

My Training and Approach to Therapy

I have my Bachelor of Arts in Bible and Ministry (2018) from Harding University and a Master of Arts in Clinical Mental Health Counseling (2020) from the University of Iowa. I am currently a Temporary Licensed Mental Health Counselor (T-LMHC) in the state of Iowa. Due to my temporary licensing status, I will be working under the supervision of Holly Smigel as I work toward full licensure. I have experience working with a range of mental health concerns and have specific experience in corrections, substance use treatment, and private practice. I primarily utilize Cognitive Behavioral Therapy and Solution Focused Counseling in my practice and adapt those approaches to meet the unique needs each client brings. I also practice from a Christian perspective and am comfortable integrating those values and beliefs into the therapeutic process at the client's request. My desire is to come alongside each client that I work with to develop an individualized plan for services. I truly care about this practice and look forward to walking with you on your journey.

Client Consent

I have read this statement and understand it fully. I know that I have the right to end the counseling process at any time that I choose.
